WHY SHOULD I READ THIS?

If your vehicle fails an emissions test, please take a few minutes to review the information in this Report. This report was created to help you identify a repair facility to diagnose and repair your vehicle.

Although motorists are free to choose any repair facility, the Wisconsin Vehicle Inspection Program encourages you to read the section titled “Suggestions on How to Choose a Repair Facility” below. Additional information can be found in the section “My Vehicle Failed. Now What Do I Do” on the following page of this handout. You are also encouraged to speak to a Manager at any test station about the repair/retest process.

WHAT DO THE NUMBERS MEAN?

During the reporting period, information is collected on how successful repair shops were in fixing vehicles that failed the test. The higher the percentage, the more successful the shop had been in fixing failed vehicles. Shops had to have at least 1 qualifying repair for this reporting period to be included in the report.

The report looks only at the test results after repair count “1”. For example, if a shop repairs a vehicle after the first failure, the results from the next test would be recorded. Results could also be reported for the tests after the initial failure, if it is the first time a shop repaired the vehicle. The only time test results would not be reported is for tests after consecutive repairs at the same repair facility.

SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO CHOOSE A REPAIR FACILITY

Although motorists are free to choose any shop, we suggest you consider having your vehicle repaired by a qualified technician who is trained and experienced in the repair of emissions components.

The repair of emissions related failures has emerged as a specialty in automotive repair. Just as all repair facilities do not work on transmissions or do front-end alignments, not all repair facilities work on emission failures. The diagnosis and repair of vehicles that fail an emissions or On-Board Diagnostic inspection can involve the repair or replacement of multiple systems and components, and can be very challenging to even a veteran technician. Statistics show that the average vehicle owner is unable to properly diagnose and repair emission failures because of the specialized training, equipment and experience required to repair these vehicles.

When choosing a repair facility from this report, it’s important to consider:

- The repair facilities success in repairing emissions related failures. The higher the percentage, the more successful they have been during the reporting period.
- The volume of repairs performed by the shop, not just the percentage. Large numbers of repairs and a high percentage are generally more indicative of a skillful shop.
- Whether the repair facility employs at least one technician who has advanced emission related training or certification. A number of repair facilities may not be listed here, including the shop you regularly use. You should feel free to ask your regular repair facility—or any shop—what experience they have in repairing emission failures. It is important that you consider all available information before choosing a shop.

DISCLAIMER: This Report is not a recommendation from the Wisconsin Vehicle Inspection Program. It is simply a consumer guide to help you locate a repair facility. It is important to remember that it remains your right and responsibility as a consumer to evaluate and choose a repair facility.

MY VEHICLE FAILED. NOW WHAT DO I DO?

Your vehicle's inspection results are shown on the "VEHICLE INSPECTION REPORT". To find out why your vehicle failed, review the Vehicle Inspection Report given to you at the testing station.

Listed below are common reasons a vehicle might fail an OBD test:

- The vehicle's OBD system connector has been removed, not accessible or is otherwise not working properly. The OBD check cannot be completed if the connector is missing or is not working properly.
- The Malfunction Indicator Light (MIL) is not working. The MIL functions to let the vehicle operator know when there is a problem with the vehicle.
- The MIL is illuminated. You may see a "Service Engine Soon" or "Check Engine" light lit up. This indicates that there is a problem with your vehicle. The specific Diagnostic Trouble Code (DTC) will be listed on the Vehicle Inspection Report. These DTC's will help your technician diagnose and repair your vehicle. A qualified, trained automotive service technician equipped with the appropriate diagnostic repair tools can repair your vehicle.

To correct the problem, take the vehicle inspection report to the repair technician of your choice. It will help in accurately diagnosing and repairing the problem. In most cases, simple corrections can be made to bring the vehicle into compliance and allow it to be successfully retested.

WHAT TO DO NEXT:

- Anyone may repair your vehicle. However, only emission related repairs performed on the vehicle at a recognized repair facility may be used to meet eligibility requirements for cost waivers. A repair facility is recognized if it employs at least one recognized technician with ASE L1, WISETECH, or other accepted advanced emission training. At the time of your vehicle's initial inspection, you were provided with a summary list of recognized repair facilities.

- The person who performs the repairs MUST complete the Repair Data Section (back of the VIR). The vehicle cannot be retested without this information completed.
- If your vehicle's OBD system is not ready after repairs, it cannot be reinspected. While this does not necessarily mean that your vehicle has a problem, it does indicate that your vehicle's OBD system has not yet completed its test, and problems may be present, but not yet identified. A recently disconnected or discharged (run down) battery, or recent servicing using a scan tool are the most likely reasons for a vehicle's OBD system being "not ready". For 1996 – 2000 model year vehicles, we are not able to retest the vehicle if more than 2 readiness monitors are NOT set. For 2001 and newer model year vehicles, more than 1 readiness monitor NOT set will prevent us from retesting the vehicle.
- Bring your vehicle to any emissions station for re-inspection. The inspection requirement does not extend your registration renewal deadline. Vehicles are eligible for a maximum of two free retests. Additional tests may be purchased at each emission station from the Station Manager in the office area.
- If your vehicle is unable to pass reinspection, you may be eligible for a waiver. A Waiver Investigator is located at each emission station.

IF YOUR VEHICLE CONTINUES TO FAIL

In a very few cases, a vehicle does not pass after a second test. When this happens, you can do several things.

- Discuss the vehicle's test results with the repair technician who completed the repairs.
- Return the vehicle to the repair facility for additional diagnostic and repair work.
- Check to see if there are any Technical Service Bulletins (TSBs) issued by the vehicle's manufacturer related to the inspection failure. If there are TSBs for your vehicle, have the repair technician determine if it is related to the OBD inspection failure.
- If your vehicle has failed two or more tests, discuss the vehicle's test results with the management team at the emission test station.

YOU CAN ALSO SEEK A WAIVER:

Vehicle owners can also apply for a waiver for vehicles that continue to fail the emissions test. You are eligible to apply for a waiver when the following conditions have been met:

1. The vehicle has failed an emissions test and following repair and retest, it still does not meet test requirements. Repairs made over 180 days prior to the expiration of the license plate cannot be applied to the waiver repair cost limit.
2. The vehicle has passed a waiver emission equipment inspection to determine if emission control equipment is missing, modified, or disconnected.
3. The Vehicle Inspection Reports have been presented to the Waiver Investigator at the time a waiver is requested. The REPAIR DATA section of these reports has been completed in accordance with instructions provided on the report form. Motorists must bring their vehicle and itemized receipts for parts and labor to verify the emission related repairs.
4. For all vehicles which exceed the terms of the manufacturer's emission performance or defect warranty coverage at the time of the scheduled emission inspection, the owner must have emission related repairs performed on the vehicle at a recognized repair facility.
5. The actual costs of emission related repairs and adjustments exceeded the repair cost limit for that vehicle's model year and county of domicile. Only repairs that are related to the vehicle's cause of failure can be used to apply for a cost waiver. Costs covered by any warranty or costs to repair/replace emission control equipment that has been removed, modified, or disconnected are excluded.
6. For vehicles registered and kept in Washington, Ozaukee, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha Counties, the repair cost limit for all model year vehicles subject to testing is $787, effective for calendar year 2009. This figure is adjusted annually by the DNR per NR 485.045. For vehicles registered and kept in Sheboygan County, the repair cost limit is $200 for vehicles model year 1981 and newer.

IS YOUR CAR UNDER WARRANTY?

Repairs for your vehicle may be covered by the manufacturer's emission performance or defect warranty. Check your owner's manual or contact your dealer for details. Federal law requires that the emission control systems on 1995 and newer model year vehicles be warranted for a minimum of 2 years or 24,000 miles. Warranty coverage for the on-board computer and catalytic converter (only) is extended to 8 years or 80,000 miles for these same vehicles. Many auto makers provide extended warranty coverage beyond that required by law. So, depending on the model year and mileage of your vehicle, emission system repairs may be covered by the manufacturer.

WHAT IF I NEED MORE TIME TO HAVE MY VEHICLE REPAIRED AND RETESTED?

Registration Renewal Tests: If your license plates are expiring, you would need to purchase a 30-day temporary license plate. They can be purchased either by mail, or in person at DMV Customer Service Centers or Wisconsin Vehicle Inspection Stations (in the office area). There is a $3 charge for the temporary plates and an additional $5 counter fee if purchased at either a DMV center or test station. A vehicle may be eligible for up to 3 temporary plates and some restrictions apply.

Change of Ownership Tests: If you recently purchased the vehicle and are nearing the end of the 45 day testing window, you would need to call the following number for a one-time 30 day extension: 414-266-1080 or 1-800-242-7510. There is no charge for this service. The 30-day extension can not be issued at the vehicle inspection station.
